

1. Who should use DueMinder?

Anybody with debt they want to eliminate, and a steady income, will achieve good success with DueMinder. The strategies used by DueMinder require that you are able to pay at least your current monthly minimum payments. Those with a "do it yourself" attitude, and those who enjoy web-based community interaction will find DueMinder especially beneficial.

Those who can't make minimum payments may need to look for other options. Start with a budget, cut costs wherever possible, work extra hours or get a second job. Getting out of debt is hard work and there really are no good shortcuts. If you still can't make minimum payments, we invite you to explore options with companies that advertise on DueMinder.
